

Obsidian ExploraTalk

Mapping the Wildness of Yellowstone

Presented by
Jim Meacham, Executive Director & Co-founder
InfoGraphics Lab ~ Department of Geography
University of Oregon

Photo by Mark Gocke, Wyoming Game and Fish Department

Jim's research interests include map and atlas design and data visualization. Jim teaches map design in the UO Geography Department. He is a co-author on several award-winning atlases including Wild Migrations: Atlas of Wyoming's Ungulates (2018) and Atlas of Yellowstone. His current projects include an Atlas of the Olympic Peninsula. His talk will draw from some of the wildlife stories of ungulates and carnivores that his team and collaborators mapped in the recently published Wild Migrations: Atlas of Wyoming's Ungulates and the in-progress second edition of the Atlas of Yellowstone.

Tuesday, September 17, 2019 ~ 7PM at the Obsidian Lodge

For more info, contact: explorataalk@obsidians.org

For directions to the Obsidian Lodge: www.obsidians.org/lodgemap.htm